

January 2017

Dear New Elementary School Families,

It gives me great pleasure to welcome you to the United Nations International School of Hanoi. All of us here at UNIS Hanoi are familiar with the feelings associated with new beginnings – nerves, excitement and anxious anticipation are all part of the transition process for students and families.

Our most important priority for families in transition is to quickly help you develop a sense of belonging. I offer strong and heartfelt reassurance that you and your children are joining an especially warm, welcoming and supportive community where you will be made to feel at home in your new school. Our Elementary Leadership Team, Counselors and teaching faculty are all here to serve you and your children - our intention is to help you settle in as quickly as possible and to make sure that your child has all that he/she needs to be able to participate in the excellent learning opportunities that are offered here at UNIS Hanoi.

Please know that we place a high value parent engagement and open communication at all times. Don't be afraid to be in touch at any time to share great ideas, help us to know what we're doing well and how we could improve, discuss your concerns and to get involved with your child's school life.

We look forward to getting to know you and your family through all manner of academic, cultural, sporting and social events throughout the year and hope that you will very quickly feel a part of the UNIS Hanoi community.

Warmly,

Megan Brazil
